

Meet Lindsay!

Managing Director

“A Dream is a wish your heart makes...” There are probably twenty-plus wedding-themed movies I could rattle off that I’ve watched over and over again, hundreds of pages of BRIDES magazine I’ve flipped through, hours upon hours of pinning I’ve partaken in - and the collection of bridesmaid dresses in my OWN closet could rival those of Katherine Heigl’s! I grew up in the land of 10,000 lakes and a few years ago made the big move to The Windy City where I first immersed myself in event planning on the corporate and non-profit side. When I heard that The Simply Elegant Group was opening their doors in Chicago, I didn’t hesitate for a moment to jump on board.

After years of planning I still get excited for each and every new couple that walks through our doors. It’s the enthusiasm and endless ideas that our newly engaged couple brings with them that continues to allow me to love my job. They say when you love your job you don’t work a day in your life. This rings true for me every day with The Simply Elegant. I thrive on the project management aspect of a wedding. The tiny details that most brides don’t think of; I’ve got them covered for you. With an extensive background in hospitality and customer service, an eye for detail, and being a hopeless romantic; I know how to get you hitched without a hitch. One last final hair and make-up inspection along with fluff your train before you take your walk down the aisle, are probably my favorite part of watching everything come together. I look forward to making magical moments and all your dreams come true.
