

Meet Mandi!

Lead Planner

“Unity is strength. When there is teamwork and collaboration, wonderful things can be achieved.” -Mattie Stepanek

I believe this quote perfectly sums up your experience with Simply Elegant. I'm here to collaborate with you and act as your teammate throughout the planning process to make your vision come true! As an alumni of Texas A&M University with a degree in Sport Management, I spent a lot of time planning and executing large-scale events in the sports industry. This is where I learned to obsess over the details, over-communicate, and build lasting relationships with vendors, peers and clients!

Like weddings, sporting events are about providing memories as well, so this has been a very natural transition for me. This is one of the most enjoyable seasons of your life! You only get to be the bride/groom once, so spend it drinking mimosas, being showered with love and presents, and planning a life with your future better half. Let me do the heavy lifting to make the planning process as fun and stress-free as possible. Then, when the day comes, you can actually slow down and be a guest at your own wedding knowing that I've got ALL your details covered!

Things I Love: my husband (Will), my dogs (Dax and Harper), home improvement projects, working out, sports (surprise!), coffee, and being outside
Things I Wish I Loved: hanging up my clothes, running (it's my resolution every year), water sports
Things That Inspire Me: strong and tenacious lady bosses, nature, gardening, family, and friends
